Jennifer A. Shy
Special Counsel

For over 20 years, Ms. Shy has concentrated her practice on complex litigation, including employment litigation involving wrongful termination, sexual harassment and disability rights and ERISA benefits denial litigation. Her broad experience also includes trial work relative to all types of business disputes, class action litigation, defending professional negligence claims, complex insurance disputes, product liability, and Business and Professions Code section 17200 claims. Her abilities in handling jury and bench trials, arbitrations and all forms of alternative dispute resolution processes from start to finish have earned Ms. Shy a reputation as the attorney of choice when faced with difficult business litigation.
